

Living in Congruence

Exodus 4:18–31

Main Question:

Are you living in congruence with God's call?

Discussion Questions

1. In geometry, two shapes are congruent when they match perfectly. Where in your life right now do you feel the most alignment — or the most gap — with the person of Jesus?
2. Moses was God's chosen instrument to bring deliverance to the people of Israel. He was called, equipped, and empowered and yet, even he, was not exempt from God's accountability. How do you typically respond when you are held accountable, and what does that response reveal about your heart?
3. Partial obedience is still disobedience. Can you think of an area in your own life where you've been "obedient enough" — doing just enough to feel okay while still avoiding full surrender? What would full obedience look like in that area?
4. The sermon introduced the idea of "spiritual LARPing" — playing the role of a Christian outwardly while the heart stays distant or stubborn. In what ways are you tempted to perform faith rather than live it, and what does a soft, genuinely surrendered heart look like in your daily life?
5. The sermon brought forward the idea that someone can outwardly live in congruence with Jesus while still maintaining incongruence in their "hidden life" — thoughts, heart posture, private habits. How often do you take time to assess your hidden life, and what does it look like when you do?
